DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's request for reconsideration of the finality of the rejection of the last Office action is persuasive and, therefore, the finality of that action is withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sasaki et al. (5886836) in view of Kimura et al. (5812189).

Regarding claim 1, Sasaki et al. discloses a lens barrel of a camera, in figure 5, comprising: a plurality of cylindrical bodies (12, 16, 19, and 20) expandable in a multistage fashion; an optical lens system constituted by a plurality of lens groups (L1 and L2) disposed along an optical axis (figure 5), all of said plurality of lens groups being accommodated in a leading cylindrical body (10), among said plurality of cylindrical bodies (12, 16, 19, and 20) except that it does not show a driving source, wherein said optical lens system comprises at least two fixed lens groups and at least one movable lens group movable along the optical axis upon receiving a driving force of said driving source. Kimura et al. shows that it is known to provide a driving source, wherein said optical lens system comprises at least two fixed lens groups (1001 and 1003) and at least one movable lens group (1002) movable along the optical axis upon receiving a driving force of said driving source for moving the zoom lens to the position stored in the memory means (col.13, lines 31-35 and col. 15, lines 15-25) (figures 17 and 18).

Therefore it would have been obvious to someone of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the teaching of Sasaki et al. with the driving force, fixed lens, and movable lens of Kimura et al. for the purpose of for moving the zoom lens to the position stored in the memory means (col.13, lines 31-35 and col. 15, lines 15-25) (figures 17 and 18).

Regarding claim 2, Kimura et al. discloses wherein said movable lens group (1002) is disposed between said two fixed lens groups (1001 and 1003) (col. 13, lines 32-35) (figure 17).

Regarding claim 3, Sasaki et al. discloses a threaded shaft (80b) but does not specifically disclose a movable lens frame and a rotary driving section. However, Kimura et al. discloses a movable lens group (1002), but does not specifically disclose a movable lens frame (77), however it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use a mount or holder for the purpose of supporting the movable lens; and a rotary driving section for supplying a rotary force to said threaded shaft to rotate said movable lens group along the optical axis direction for compensating image blurring (col. 15, lines 15-25).

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Nozawa et al. (6575642 B2) discloses a lens barrel, which can carry out barrier opening/closing operations and lens moving operations of an optical lens system.

Shirie (5130851) discloses a zoom lens device, which is ideal for use in a video camera.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
